HEALTH DEPARTMENT BOUND TO STAMP OUT SMALL-POX.

Confined Mostly to School Children. information. School Closed for One Week.

A number of cases of smallpox breaking out among the school children of the Grayling schools prompted the school board to act promptly in closing the schools for one week and the Village health department is urging vaccination of all school children in the expectation that an epidemic may be averted.

Notices by the School board and Board of health reading as follows, have been circulated:

· School Closed. At a special meeting of the Board of Education held Saturday evening, it was decided to close school for one week beginning Monday, Nov. 29. If the situation warrants it school will be closed longer.

By Order of Board of Education. The Children Prohibited from Public Gatherings.

At a special meeting of the Board of Health held Sunday morning, it was decided to exclude all children and students in school from all public gatherings until further notice.

All school children are expected to show certificate of vaccination upon re-entering school. Monday, Nov. 29 and Tuesday, Nov. 30 at 10:00 a.m. the doctors will be at both School houses for the purpose of vaccination and on Thursday morning at 9:00 for the inspection of arm and issuing certificates. By Order of Board of Health,

P. E. Johnson, Health Officer Dr. Platt of the State department Board of health was in the city Friday and while here visited every smallpox patient. At 4:00 o'clock that afternoon he attended a meeting of the local board of health and gave out some valuable suggestions and

He gave out some startling statistics among which were the small amount of money that was being spent for the prevention of disease as compared with amounts spent for other purposes. For fire protection the speaker said, the State spent $3.00 per capita, or $3.00 for every man, woman and child in the state For police protection the state pays a per capita of about $1.50. For guarding the health of the people a per capita of from 7 to 12 cents is spent. He urged upon the people the importance of strict quarantine. He stated that the outbreak or, smallpox here was among the school children and suggested that the schools be closed for a period of one week in order to check it, after which he felt confident that school might be re-sumed, and that every child returning must present a certificate of vac-cination from their physician before being admitted. Also he requested that children be excluded from all public gatherings until further no-

'A PLACE TO GO.

It is not difficult to find places to go in Grayling. The difficulty is shortage of days and nights. A wise selection should be everyone's en-deavor. Recreation is necessary no deavor. Recreation is necessary not doubt; sociability is another necessity and work is always plentiful. Should the high things be neglected? Find a place always for the church and get all the inspiration there is in worship. A one stringed violin has little but possibilities in it. A one stringed life is about the same. Go to church! same. Go to church!

No one has forgotton that this is Anniversary week for the Michelson Memorial M. E. Church. It is a time for fine memories and grateful hearts. Every week this church gets more firmly established in the community. Congregations are grow-ing and interest increases. Friday evening is the annual banquet follow ed by a lecture by one of the firest speakers in America. Dr. M. S. Rice is a prince among preachers and lec-turers. All who buy tickets for the turers. All who buy tickets for the banquet get the lecture free. Admission or those who do not attend the banquet is thirty-five cents. Get both if possible and one at least. Sunday is the church birthday. Two years ago the church was dedicated. Come next Sunday and fill the church to the doors. A day of special privilege.

John Stuart Webster, mining en-gineer, boards a train in Death Velley, California, on his way back to civilization after cleaning up $100,000. He looks like a hobo. Then he rescuess a distressed lady, who makes his heart flop over. He eliminates the offending man. She is Dolores Ruey. In Denver he is offered a $25,000-a-year job by a capitalist friend, Edward J Je-rome. He receives a delayed letter from his own particular pai, Billy rome. He receives a delayed letter from his own particular pai, Billy Geary, asking him to finance a gold-mining proposition in Central America and go fifty-fifty with him on the profits. So he starts for Sobratte. Jerome goes with John to the depot. They meet the distressed lady on her way to the same train. John tells Jerome the whole story. Jeruma secretive sees John to the depot. They meet the distressed lady on her way to the same train. John tells Jerome the whole story. Jerome secretly sees the girl, offering her $10,000 if she induces John to take his job inside of ninety days. The girl accepts. The scene now shifts to Buenaventura, Sobrante, where Geary has existed for two months on credit extended by Mother Jones, keeper of a hotel and dramshop. Dolores cables Herrietta Wilkins (Mother Jenks) that she is on her way to visit her. Mother Jenks has been educating Dolores, who is the daughter of former President Ruey of Sobrante, deposed and executed by President Sarrow. Mother Jenks doesn't want Dolores to find out she is no longer respectable. So Billy meets the steamer and tries to turn the girl back. But Dolores lands and salutes Mother Jenks as fourn the girl back. But Dolores lands and salutes Mother Jenks as "Mother." Billy promptly fails in love with Dolores. Webster in New Orleans secures a stateroom on La Estrellita by buving a ticket for a mythical valet, "Andrew Bowers." In New Orleans sesses. Bowers." In New Orleans Webster saves a young man from assassination. On the steamer he finds the mythical valet in his stateroom He accepts "Bowers" on trust, without learning his identity. At Buenaventura he assists the "valet" to land. He finds Billy in love with Dolores, and like the good scout he is bids farewell to his romance. Dolores astonishes bim. He makes his will.

Webster went immediately to his room, called for pen and paper, and proceeded at once to do that which he had never done before-to wit, pre pare his last will and testament. In a few brief paragraphs he made a holographic will and split his bank roll equally between the two human beings he cared for most-Billy Gearand Dolores Ruey. "Bill's a gambler like me," he ruminated; "so I'll play safe. The girl is a conservative, and after Bill's wad is gone, he'd be boiled in oil before he'd prejudice hers."

Having made his will, Webster made a copy of it. The copy he placed in an envelope marked: "For Jack. Not to be opened until after my death." This envelope he then enclosed in a larger one and mailed to Billy at Calle de Concordia No. 19.

Having made his few simple pre parations for death, Mr. Webster next burrowed in his trunk, brought forth his big army-type automatic pistol and secured it in a holster under his arm, for he deemed it unwise and pro vocative of curiosity to appear in immaculate ducks that bulged at the right hip. SHREWD IDEA IN POLITICS

Pictures of Presidential Candidates on Letter Heads Was a Popular Thing in 1840.

Back in the early days of the republic it was considered a fine idea to decorate paper with the portraits of presidential candidates. In this way the letter writer showed not only his preference, but tried to influence his correspondents for his candidate, remarks the New York Sun. A fine example of this sort of political propaganda was unearthed recently in New York. It dates back to 1840, when William Henry Harrison was running for president on the Whig ticket against Martin Van Buren, Democrat.

of suits is due just now and may be briefly written, since the story itself vas not a long one this season. There has been great uniformity of styles and considerable variety in details of finishing, and the points that distinguished suits at the beginning of the season proved to be very popular, so that there has been no good reason for running after strange gods. Now that the season is over, and designers are turning their attention to spring, we are not likely to find any startling innovations in winter styles.

The two suits pictured are found among the liberal quota of fur-trimmed models that liave made up a part of all representative collections. The suit at the left is one of the few that have shown themselves independ ent of the vogue for coats reaching almost to the knees. There are a few models that keep it company, so that it is not wholly audacious, but they very becoming and good in style. The coat shown in the picture has em- here a velvet-covered toque makes the

The long girdle of the material is finished at the ends with barrel-shaped ornaments made of the fur. Squirrel skins were chosen for this suit's trimered with massed sprays of uncurled ostrich in gray looks well with it.

The suit at the right reveals a coat a little longer than the average, with a plain and fairly wide skirt. It is a fine model for a matronly wearer, with its straight coat and line of clothcovered huttons from waist to neck. These buttons reappear at the sides where the coat is split, and add to the general trimness of this suit. Popular squirrel, short-haired fox, Australian opossum and beaver. A charming hat at the bottom of the group is an amusing miniature made like hats for grownups. It is also made of velvet with sectional crown and has an upturned brim split at each side. Silk cord edges the brim and outlines the seams in the crown and bright motifs in silk embroidery help the gaiety of the winter season. No wonder its small wearer is so pleased with life in general and her hat in particular. It is a clever piece of designing in which the means used for leveloping maturer headwear have been perfectly adopted to childhood. Hats as elaborate as this look best with plain coats and it happens that coats for girls are plain this season.

SANTO DOMINGO: FIRST LOVE AND LAST RESTING PLACE OF COLUMBUS

Christopher Columbus, in placing the great western hemisphere on the map of the world, left his impress more deeply on what is now the Dominican republic than on any other bit of land

the New World.

The very name of the capital of the republic, Santo Domingo, whose ward-ship under the United States has been under public discussion recently, is a affair with the Columbuses The great discoverer named for his father this first permanent city estab-lished by Europeans in the Americas. The same name is applied to the island of which the republic is a part almost as commonly as its aboriginal name, Haiti; and finally the paternal name is further perpetuated in that of the republic itself.

The remains of Columbus are believed by investigators who have examined the evidence in the case to lie in the cathedral in Santo Domingo The body of the discoverer was brought to the is and of his early triumphs from Spain, where he died and was placed beside that of his son Diego. It was thought that the Spaniards removed the remains of Chris-topher Columbus when they transferred sovereignty of the island to the French in 1795. It appears from later examinations of the burial vaults of the cathedral, however, that the casket which was borne in such great state from Santo Domingo to Havana at the end of the Eighteenth century and from Havana to Spain a hundred years later, contained instead the ashes of Diego, the son.

The city of Santo Domingo grew to be a wonderful place during the early days of Spanish dominion, but Columdevelopment. His son, Diego Columbus, however, engraved the family name deeper on the city and the country of which it was the capital, setting up there a court of such regal splen dor that it aroused the envy of the Spanish king.

Santo Domingo seemed destined to become the bustling metropolis of a Western empire. But it became the victim of exploitation. After a turbulent history, during which the native Indians were exterminated and thousands of African slaves were imported, the latter, assisted by mulatto free men, rose, in the last years of the Eighteenth century, abolished slavery and drove their oppressors from the island. Though the land of the Domincan republic reverted for a while to Spanish control, and later was conquered by the republic of Haiti, with which it shares the island, it estab lished its independence in 1844 and has retained its individuality since.

WOMEN THE FINANCIERS OF A FORGOTTEN KINGDOM

Along busy highways of ocean travel, land links between Japan and For-mosa, not far from China's coastwise routes, yet visited by only two or three white persons a year—such are the Loo Choo (Luchu or Ryuku) islands.

"Loo Choo is a land full of the inde-scribable charm and mystery of the Orient, but replete with the pathos of a vanishing race," writes Roy Chap-man Andrews to the National Geographic society.

"But, although it has been 40 years since there sounded the death knell of this little hidden kingdom, Loo Choo is not yet Japan. The traveler realizes this even before he lands. The pine-clothed, tomb-dotted hills which form the background of the strange little cities of Naha and Shuri have an unfamiliar look and the pretty tiled roofs of the diminutive houses, just disible over the surrounding gray stone walls, give fascinating hints of what may be found beyond their lacquered gateways. On their entire 900 square miles of land only one white man, an American missionary, is resi-

Much of it is exported, and the finest of the boxes, bowls, trays, tables, etc., which are in daily use in Japan and China and sold to tourists throughout the Orient, come from the little city of Naha, or Shuri, its neighbor across the The lacquer ware, when first made, is a dull brown, but really first-class pieces improve with age and soon change to a heautiful vermillon becoming brighter and clearer the longer they are used.

"When we came to buy lacquer we were greatly surprised to find that bargaining had no place in Loo Choo. Without exception, the first price asked for an article was the one for which it was sold. Never in the Orient had we met with a similar condi-

"Whether this creature has a per onality or not may be forever extremely difficult for humans to decide Its eyes, that look like cows' eyes, really cast a thousand images on a special kind of brain, so different from our own that we cannot understand it and then besides these great big eyes it has three others. Its short, ringed horns are not horns at all, but sense organs of so complicated a nature that they are organs of smell or not, and it is supposed that they may be the seat of sense organs that we humans do not have.

On the inner is the musical instrument. It is a row of hard, bead-like projections, which are very highly developed in the males, but not at all in the females. When the edge of the wing is scraped over these projections a musical sound is made.'

ALONG OUR TURBULENT BORDER

"No region in all North America is more frequently mentioned or more widely misunderstood, perhaps, than the Mexican border," writes Frederick Nogales, Mex., to the National Geo graphic society.

"From the Gulf of Mexico up to El Paso, along the Texas frontier, the Rio Grande forms the boundary between the United States and Mexico; thence to the Pacific coast the line is marked by stone or iron monuments (save a short break at the Colorado). so set that one is supposed to be lble from another. By this plan a soldier, miner or cowman (yes, and a smuggler, too) can always tell which ready fulfilled the prophecy of the misanthrope Timon who had said upon side of the line he is on; or, if wholly ost and he comes suddenly on a ument, he soon can get oriented.

young Athenian's rash proposals had "Adventurous, colorful and full of contrasts as it is, the 1,800-mile trip along this crooked, historic line is been indorsed by the populace, "Go on, my brave boy, and prosper; for your prosperity will bring on the ruin of all rough and difficult and has been made this crowd." His advice to seize and by a few people. fortify Decelea in 413 B. C. brought "The Rio Grande part of this border has caused both Uncle Sam and Mexico much work and mental anguish. During bad floods the line as formed by the river squirms around in so astonishing and lively a manner that what is Mexican soil one day may be in Texas the next, and vice versa.

"Railroads cut this long border line at Brownsville, Laredo, Eagle Pass and El Paso, Tex.: at Douglas, Naco ico and Tia Juana, in California. Only four of these railroads, however, are main lines of through traffic that penetrate the interior of Mexico: these start at Laredo, Eagle Pass, El Paso and Nogales.

"No section of the border has seen so much of adventure, tragedy and turbulent activity as Texas. The flags France, Spain and Mexico have waved over it; for a time it flew its own Lone Star and also the Confederate flag.

"As you follow the horder west, oaks, pines and underbrush decrease, aridity increases and cacti lift their thorny heads. Border counties like Brewster, Presidio and El Paso are of amazing area-larger than some of our small Eastern states. Windmills are everywhere—"big electric fans to keep the cattle cool, a waggish cowboy once explained to a London tenderfoot.

"El Paso is the only large city from 'San Antone' to Los Angeles, a ride of 1,500 dry, dusty miles.

"The largest irrigation reservoir anywhere is the great Elephant Butte dam, which stores more water than Nile,

"From the point at Monument No 1. where the boundary line crawls out of the Rio Grande (at the southeast corner of New Mexico), it strikes west into a wilderness of singularly dry and empty aspect. For 40 miles along this march the traveler must carry his own water. "To the west lie the rough, hostile foothills of the Dog mountains; near here, in the San Luis range, the line reaches a point of 6,600 feet above the sea, marking the continental di vide.

"In the San Bernardino valley th line strikes the first running water after quitting the Rio Grande—192 miles to the east. Here rises the famous Yaqui river, that long, crooked stream that meanders through the vast Mexican state of Sonora and through the turbulent Yaqui Indian zone, finally emptying into the Gulf of Califor nla below Guaymas.

"In the whole 700-mile stretch from tion, and every living green thing for the Rio Grande to the Pacific this line thousands of square miles disappears crosses only five permanent running streams, and the average rainfall throughout its length is only eight

A PIPE ORGAN.

It is no idle dream that Grayling is soon to have a pipe organ. Thruthe action Tuesday afternoon of the members of the Ladies Aid society of the Michelson Memorial church in pledging $1,000 in payment toward a pipe organ for that church, the hope of sometime having one is about become true. Thruout the entire Bay City Methodist Episcopal church district there are only two church buildings that surpass in value the local church and these are located in Bay City where the memberships are large and with strong financial resources. The local church was built at a cost of $35,000 by Mr. Nels Michelson and given to the people of Grayling as a community church. Now what can be more fitting than to add to this beautiful edifice a fine pipe organ? This live interest of the Ladies aid in the welfare of the church is bound to keep odist Episcopal church district there fare of the church is bound to keep this institution among the leaders for moral inspiration and higher social

A good pipe organ will cost about $3,500.00. It will still be necessary to raise $2,500. A campaign will be started to acquire a thousand subscriptions of $1.00 each, and larger subscriptions to make up the balance. There need be no question but that none but the best will be purchased, and this addition to the church is certain to be the means of bringing was a social question and higher social question and truck equipped with a snow plow for use on the roads in that county during the winter.

Paul Harker, arrested on October 2, charged with having brutally scriptions of $1.00 each, and larger of Wolverine has been bound over to circuit court for trial in Cheboygan county.

The people of the community cannot help but appreciate what the women in this church are doing and a ready co-operation on the part of the men of the church and those interested in it will be forth coming in this cause. This is a community church and was intended by its donor, Mr. Michelson, that it should be for all who have no other church home.

FREDERIC SCHOOL NOTES.

Leonard Burkett entered the fourth grade Monday.

The intermediate pupils have been composing Thanksgiving poems. The following was composed by Willard Johnson, a fifth grade pupil:

"Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day,
The world is full of fun;
Every one is very gay,
Thanksgiving day has come.

And when we go to grandma's house With our team of black and white, And at the windows we will see A bright and gleaming light."

We are making booklets about the Pilgrims this week.

Tuesday evening, Nov. 23rd., our Thanksgiving program was given in the high room to a large and appreciative audience. There were more people than could be seated and good interest and attention were shown. interest and attention were shown

FOR WOMEN

From a Woman Whose Serious IIIness Was Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Garnett, Kas.—'I first took Lydis'E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a complete nervous breakdown following the birth of my oldest child. I got up too soon which caused serious female trouble. I was not able to be on my feet but very little and could not do my housework at all. I had a bad pain in my it eft side and it would pain terribly if I stepped off a curb-stone. One day one of your booklets was thrown in the yard and I read every word in it. There were so many who had been helped by your medicine that I wanted to try it and my husband went to town and got me a bottle. It seemed as though I felt relief after the second dose, so I kept on until I had taken five bottles and by that time I was as well as I could wish. About a year later I gave birth to a ten pound boy, and have had two more children since and my health has been fine. If I ever have trouble of any kind I am going to take your medicine for I give it all the praise for my good health. I always recommend' your medicine whenever I can."—Mrs. EVA E. Eatonic and feel like a new man. It has done me more good than anything else," writes C. O. Frappir.

Eatonic is the modern remedy for acid stomach, bloating, food repeating and indigestion. It quickly takes up and carries out the acidity and gas and enables the stomach to digest the food naturally. That means not only relief from pain and discomfort but you get the full strength from the food you eat. Big box only costs a trifle with your druggist's guarantee.

saws. It finishes its cut and is ready for another before the ordinary saw is well started. This log saw—The Ottawa—has a specially designed friction clutch, con-trolled by a lever, which starts and stops the saw without stopping the engine. Others have imitated, but no other power log saw has this improvement just like the Ottawa. The Ottawa Log Saw sells for less money than any power saw of anything like its size.

One man wheels this outfit from cut to cut and log to log like a barrow. Separate attachments cut down trees and cut up branches. Extra power lets the engine do heavy work of all kinds. Owners of the Ottawa Log Saw laugh at coal shortages and are making big money with ease, the machine doing the work. 35 to 50 cords cut any day, rainy or dry, by one man, are normal figures. And wood is approaching $20 a cord: The Ottawa is compact, simple and dirable. It sells for cash or easy payments and is guaranteed. If you have wood to cut the Ottawa Log Saw will be the eparate attachments cut down trees cut the Ottawa Log Saw will be the most satisfactory machine you've ever owned. Whether Rose went as Don Guz man's wife or leman, no one could say. Mr. Salterne, father to Rose, and rich merchant of the port, gave a ship and 500 pounds toward the fitting out, the same to be commanded by Amyus, now experienced in seamanship and the handling of rough men; and so he sailed on his first venture on the come and 100 men, with beef, pork and good put to death, even as he had his broth-nie in abundance, and culverins, swivels, muskets, calivers, long bows, the other for a heretic. pikes and cutlasses aplenty. He was to discover the whereabouts and condition of Rose if he could, but surely to damage to his utmost what Spaniards he should fall afoul of. A commission to his liking, for it was an Spanish fleet, now cast Don Guzman's article of faith with Amyas, as with most young English rovers of that day, of Flanders. The vengence of Amyas that all Spanlards were cruel and cowwas sated, as was Yoe's; but almost that all Spaniards were cruel and cow-ardly, even as his own great Queen Elizabeth was all white purity. Amyas went Frank, scholar and courtier, and mad likewise for love of Rose Salterne; also Salvation Yeo, his own Captain Oxen ham being long dead.

Westward they sailed to tropic shores: to low wooded hills, spangled by firefiles; westward through wondrone seas where islands and cape uspended in air. In a wooded bight they spled a caravel, which they captured, and in her they found a store of brown pearls; also a cargo of salt which smelt evilly as they hides.

Amyas sailed on to La Guayara in Caracas, finding Don Guzman not at home, but having sight of Rose Salterne, she being truly Don Guzman's wife, in a garden of the governor's palace. In the fight with Don Guzman's men Frank Leigh was wounded and captured. Amyas was knocked inconscious, but taken safely away by months in the A. E. F. When Legion officials at National headquarters at Indianapolis decided early in January that it was necessary to enlist the services of a legal adviser to thrash out the knotty problems of eligibility, interpretation of statutes affecting the Legion and other legal matters, Mr. Adams was appointed to fill the position. His appointment to the new position came as a result of efficient service as legal adviser after an amendment was made to the Legion constitution at the Cleveland convention which authorized the creation of office of national judge advocate. Mr. Adams has practiced law since 1916 and is associated with a prominent Indianapolis law firm. He is a graduate of Washington and Jefferson college, and also attended Harvard law school. He is twenty-nine years old. The duties of the office consist in the supervision of the legal department of the Legion, the employment of counsel in law suits in which the Legion is involved, interpretation of legal questions, and the adjustment of questions of eligibility.

TO BUILD WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Legion Administrative Machinery to Be Used in Safely Launching the Branch Organization.

Assurance that the administrative machinery of the American Legion will be used without stint in an effort to build up the Women's auxiliary, has been given by National Commander F. W. Galbraith, Jr. It is expected that the auxiliary will take charge of its own destinies next spring, with the holding of the first national convention of the women's units.

"All doubts and misgivings in regard to the future of the Women's auxiliary of the American Legion were removed and a system of orderly expansion in departments and a national or ganization was provided for by the Cleveland convention," announced Mr. Galbraith.

"We propose to offer the aid of our organization in building up the aux iliary, but we are not going to meddle with its policies so long as our recognized ideals and purposes are carried out. The Cleveland convention voted to let the women swim without water wings. It authorized state executive committees of the Legion to call state conventions and to establish de-partment organizations of the auxilfary, killing the rule which made nec essary the establishment of a total of units equivalent to 50 per cent of the number of posts in the department.'

The Harvest of 50 Years

Your Grandfather and your Father facedruin. Warthen had just ended. Consumers then clamored for cheaper food. Prices fell-farm prices most of all. Farmers sought aid in cooperation, in organization. They founded the National Grange—the first national farmers' organization to survive fifty years.

The Grange began the fight for better conditions for farmers; for better marketing; better homes; better schools and better government. Today you have agricultural colleges, experiment stations, extension, rural delivery, parcel post, postal savings and a lot of other things your Grandfather did not have, but needed, following the Civil War.

The Grange is fighting your fight the MAN, which is even older than the same today as it did fifty years ago. Another war has ended. Again the farmer is expected to stand the first shrinkage of prices.

You need the Grange and the Grange needs you. You need its experience in cooperation, in checking radical tendencies and in stabilizing the nation. You need its voice at Washington. It needs your prompt support. For this advertisement we are indebted to THE COUNTRY GENTLE-

Grange and which reflects the wisdom of years as well as the news of progress in farming. For farmers it believes in active, practical organization such as the Grange affords. It presents a weekly review of the sweeping progress of farm cooperation in organization which is the hope of the future. By subscribing for a full year of 52 issues you receive for only one dollar a farm-news service that will repay you many times over. Our secretary will forward your order.

NEW FRENCH LOAN AWAKES FERVOR

Public Subscriptions Reported to Be Greater Than for Any Past Financing.

SCHOOL CHILDREN GIVE HELP.

Not a War Loan, but "A Loan for National Restoration," Government Tells Citizens.

Reports just received from France indicate that popular interest in the new internal French Government six per cent loan is marked by a fervor that recalls the Victory loans of the war period. A cable from Paris says that four billion francs were subscribed for the loan before it was officially opened on October 20 and that since then public subscriptions have been greater than for any previous French loan.

All Business Devotes Day's Receipts to Loan.
One of the latest evidences of this popular enthusiasm is a declaration of Paris shopkeepers setting aside November 25 as a "Commerce Day," when all receipts for the day will be devoted to the loan. A dramatic touch has been given to this movement by the City of Verdun, which, despite the fact that it was three-fourths destroyed, has demanded permission to do its share toward mak

In country districts peasants have requested advances on their unsold wheat so as to turn the proceeds into loan subscriptions.

Even the Children Enrolled. French school children have been enrolled in the work for this new "reconstruction" loan. Extracts from the correspondence of French school teachers who fell in the war have been printed for distribution in the public schools, and the Minister of Public In-struction. M. Andre Honorat, has addressed a letter to the school children. counseling them as they read these words of the school teachers who made the supreme sacrifice to request their parents to make a present sacri fice that "France may be as great in peace as she was in war."

To satisfy the popular demand bearer hands for small amounts will be is sued as a part of the loan. The bonds will have the first five coupons attached. They will be in convenient form so that they may circulate in the manner of currency.

To Bring Out Hoarded Coins. Somewhat allied to this feature is the provision by the Government for acceptance in payment for the loan of old silver coins of France which have been demonstized by past decrees The French peasant's custom of hoarding silver and gold in stockings is proverbial, and it is expected that this provision will bring to light much of the silver currency of Napoleon III and even of periods more remote, as the opportunity is afforded to cash in old coins at their face value. Reasons for the Loan. These, in the language that France employs in addressing her own citi-

zers, are the reasons for the new loan : "France calls upon her sons and daughters for a great 6 per cent loan. Certain ones will say: 'Another loan? Why is it that the state so often needs our money? Where will all this policy of continual borrowing lead us?'

"The heart has reasons that the mind does not grasp,' has said the philosopher. There are reasons for this new loan, reasons which appeal to the mind as well as to the heart of all

"It is not a question, as is well understood, of meeting by debts the deficits in a badly planned budget. The budget for the first time since the war, thanks to sacrifices in the way of taxes without precedent, thanks also to the strictest economies, today balances. The revenue from taxes old and new reaches and exceeds the total of normal and permanent expenditures which public services had to face There alone remain the extraordinary

To Meet Expenses Germany Should Pay.
"What are these extraordinary ex-expenses to be met.

"On the one hand, they are for the reparation of the losses and damages caused by the war, for pensions to wid-ows and to the crippled and severely wounded; in a word, all the charges which, under the terms of the Peace Treaty, rest upon Germany, but which Germany will meet only by deferred payments, and for which we have in the meantime to make advances.

"On the other hand, the exceptional expenses are for building up our public services—ports, canals, roads, rail-ways—for which at the outbreak of the war large plans were already in the way of realization, and which are now more than ever necessary for intensive exploitation of our national riches.

"One part, then, of these extraordinary expenses is for sums that are re coverable. The other, part is for sums that aid in our production.

For National Restoration. "These, then, are the objects to which the money received from the loan should be consecrated. Here then, are the objects to which each one of us should subscribe.

"It is not a war loan; it is truly in the highest sense of the terms a load or national restoration. It will assure to France-that is to say, to all French men-prosperity after the victory."

GROWING CRANBERRIES ON AN ALPENA CO. MARSH.

AN ALPENA CO. MARSH.

Alpena, Mich., Dec. 2.—Years ago wild cranberry marshes in Michigan supplied most of that fault for the markets of the state, but they have quite generally disappeared and a few sporadic efforts at raising cranberries as a commercial proposition have been failures. Now, however, an Alpena concern is marketing a fair crop of the fruit and expects, within a year or two, to have a tract of 50 acres in bearing. A part of this was planted several years ago but the majority of it only within the last four or five years and it is not yet all in the best of condition. The marsh is flooded, when necessary, by a system of irrigation ditches supplied by water from Deviis Lake and the water drains directly into Lake Huron. The company has 400-acres of marsh land which it expects to bring under cultivation.
